5-Inch Ice on Hudson River

The work of harvesting from the fields of the Hudson river is progressing and the Knickerbocker ice company has gangs of men at work at Flatbush. East Kingston and Esopus. It was stated today that in some places the ice is 15 inches in thickness. Indications are that all of the ice desired will be cut and harvested this season from the Hudson river.

Hurley to Vote on New Bridge

Proposition To Spend $15,000 For New Bridge At Old Hurley, to Replace Suspension Bridge, 35 Years Old.

In accordance with a petition filed with Town Clerk Clarence Ostrander of the town of Hurley, a special election of legal voters of that town will be held in the town hall at Old Hurley on Wednesday, March 12, for the purpose of voting on a proposition to borrow $15,000 for the construction of a new bridge across Esopus creek at Old Hurley, to take the place of the present suspension bridge which was built thirty-five years ago.

The suspension bridge connects the village with the mountain road, crossing the Esopus creek at Old Hurley, near the Hurley Reformed Church. Since its construction in 1888, the suspension bridge has carried a large amount of traffic and is one of the most important bridges in the county. In 1908, an accident to the bridge across Esopus creek at Higginsville, connecting the city of Kingston and the town of Ulster, or when repairs are made made to the state highway on the Mutton Hollow flats, traffic must be diverted by way of Old Hurley and the mountain road. The suspension bridge is considered unsafe for traffic in its present condition.

Pirates To Play Here.
The Poughkeepsie Evening Star on Monday stated that Manager Lou Brown of the Kingston Colonials had booked the Pirates of the National League to play the Colonials at the Kingston Fair Grounds on Monday, June 15. This was confirmed today by Manager Brown, who stated he was after several other big league teams to play here during the summer. The Pirates, however, are the first big league team to arrange a date for Kingston.

New "Wet-Dry" Fight Probable In Legislature As Machold Moves For New State Enforcement Act

Republican Assembly Leader Invites District Attorneys, 46 out of 49 of Whom Voted For One, to Draft Such a Law.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 26.—The possibility of another "wet" and "dry" fight loomed upon the legislative horizon today.

Speaker Machold, the Republican leader of the Assembly, favors a state-wide prohibition enforcement act somewhat similar to the Mullan-Gage law which was repealed during the closing hours of last year's session.

Speaker Machold announced today he had written a letter to District Attorney William F. Love of Rochester, president of the New York State District Attorneys' Association, asking that the members of the association draft a tentative state prohibition enforcement law. The Speaker refused to make public his letter, because, he said, Mr. Love probably would not receive it until late today.

A conference of the assembly Republicans will be called next week to consider a measure of this nature.

At a recent meeting of 49 district attorneys in Albany, 46 of them voted for a resolution calling upon the legislature to enact a state-wide prohibition law.

Governor Smith and Speaker Machold, however, are standing together in opposition to the Anti-Saloon League so-called enabling triplets. Both are strongly opposed to these bills.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 26.—The finance committees of both houses of the legislature today were considering a resolution sponsored by Senator Walker and Assemblyman Bloch, the Democratic leaders, calling for a searching legislative investigation of the New York Telephone Company.

The resolution asks for an appropriation of $10,000 for the expense of the proposed committee which would consist of five senators and three assemblymen. A report would be made to the present legislature not later than April 1.

Under the resolution the contractual relationships existing between the New York Telephone Company and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Western Electric Company so far as they relate to rates and service, would be investigated.

Recently the telephone company filed an application with the public service commission for telephone rates totalling $7,500,000 annually. Resolution charges "that the telephone company, as the instrument of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, is extorting wantonly excessive rates for its own benefit and more particularly that of its parent the American Telephone and Telegraph Company."

A statement issued by Senator Walker and Assemblyman Bloch says "that there appears to be no justification for further increasing existing rates; that hardly a year has elapsed since a substantial increase of telephone rates was allowed by the public service commission."

No Community Chest This Year

Almost Unanimous Opposition Is Voiced by Organizations That Would Participate—Chamber of Commerce to Act as Clearing House For Drive Dates.

In response to a call sent out by the Chamber of Commerce to the people of Kingston to meet at the new Chamber of Commerce rooms on Monday evening to consider the advisability of Kingston having a community chest to take the place of the many drives which are in order each year, representatives of many organizations were present at the meeting.

Besides the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Industrial Home, the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Tuberculosis Hospital, the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Salvation Army, the American Legion, the Hebrew organizations, the churches were represented by the Rev. Dr. Frank H. Sedley, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church; the Rev. Mr. Clarke, pastor of the Franklin Street Zion Church; the Rev. E. M. H. Knapp, pastor of St. John's Episcopal Church; the Rev. Father Scully, pastor of St. Mary's Church. Some other citizens were also present.

Mr. Coe, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, acted as chairman of the meeting and briefly outlined the advantages of the community chest, in doing away with many drives for as many worthy causes by having one big drive to secure funds for all of these objects, each having made up a budget for the next two years' needs, say, and presenting the same as a basis for estimating the amount of money needed for the carrying on of the various philanthropies in the city. This would not deprive anyone from giving to his or her pet charity or philanthropy as provision would be made for subscriptions to each such organization if the donor should so desire.

Dr. Mary Gage-Day, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, was the first to speak and told with feeling of her experience with the last effort on the part of Kingston people to have a community chest. After working hard to secure contributions for the chest, Dr. Day said she was both humiliated and disgusted to have to go around and tell people that the scheme had fallen through and they could get their money back. Furthermore she had had to go and get the money to return to some of the people. Then it was found that there were some $600 expenses incurred in the carrying on of the community chest campaign and they had to be paid. One man asked to help out on those expenses had pledged $100 when he would not give anything to the community chest itself. Dr. Day was not in favor of the community chest. Mrs. Philip Elting of the Board of Managers of the Industrial Home and Mrs. Van Wageningen, the treasurer, were then called upon to express their opinions. Mrs. Elting said they felt they were not in a position to do that, but that they would like to ask some questions so that they could intelligently put the matter before their board of managers. She reminded those present that there is no membership dues in connection with the Industrial Home, but that it depends upon the generosity and heart-interest of the people of the community for its support, and Mrs. Van Wageningen added that the Industrial Home has no specified "drives." Mrs. Elting asked Mr. Coe if the Community Chest would do away with the "Shriners," the "Benedictine" and other halls for charity, and Mr. Coe said that it would not. As for making up a budget one year in advance, he said that the Industrial Home could do very well, but the question of what moment they might be confronted with as much and as serious sickness as they had to contend with a short time ago. Nor could they promise not to have some serious breakdown in their healing apparatus or other part of the equipment. Should such an emergency arise, Mrs. Elting asked how they would they secure necessary funds. In answer Mr. Coe stated that he believed that it was the custom, in the community chest idea to provide for a contingent fund in addition to the money called for by the various budgets, to meet emergencies. Mrs. Elting said she would have to report the findings of the meeting back to the board of directors of the Industrial Home before it would be possible for that organization to vote either for or against the project.

Mr. Safford, for the Y. M. C. A., also mentioned the past community chest experience in Kingston, and the lack of enthusiastic support for it. For several years the directors of the Y. M. C. A. have raised the necessary budget of some nine thousand dollars for the Y. M. C. A. and the recent campaign that they had just put over successfully was a very special matter.

He knew that one of the directors was not in favor of the community chest in Kingston and while he was not in favor of it either, he thought that the Y. M. C. A. would want to do the right thing and work with the community in whatever plan was considered the best for the greatest number.

While Martin Cantino, chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, could not be present, he had communicated with Mr. Coe, telling of a letter from the National Red Cross not favoring the community chest plan.

In answer to a query from Miss Estey, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., she said that the Y. M. C. A. would want to do the right thing and work with the community in whatever plan was considered the best for the greatest number.

Committee Takes Possession of Stack of Telegrams Sent To And By Fall and McLean At Palm Beach

Sinclair's Private Secretary is Subpoenaed; Daugherty Probe Vote Again Blocked In Senate.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 26.—Digging deeper into the morass of the great oil scandal, members of the senate investigating committee developed today that there was an almost constant stream of telegrams passing between Washington and Palm Beach last December when the most sensational aspects of the scandal were coming to light.

E. B. McLean, wealthy Washington publisher, and Albert B. Fall, ex-secretary of the interior, were kept constantly advised of what was happening in Washington, the committee found, upon examination of the files of Western Union telegrams, secured from the local office under protest.

Before the committee met this morning, Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, said that it was not planned to call former Postmaster General V. H. Hays before the committee, or Attorney General Daugherty.

Karl C. Schuyler, of Denver, personal counsel to J. Leo Stack, Denver oil man, who is a party to a million dollar contract with Harry F. Sinclair, was present but was notified he would not be called until the committee concluded its examination of the Western Union and Postal telegrams.

At the request of Senator Walsh, Wilton J. Lambert, counsel for McLean, attended today's session. Lambert also agreed for a private conference with Walsh.

Senator Walsh today ordered a subpoena issued for G. B. Wahlberg, of New York, former private secretary to Sinclair. The committee wants to question him about his previous testimony concerning giving liberty bonds to a man by the name of "Hays."

Passage of the Wheeler resolution providing an investigation into Daugherty's conduct of the department of justice was again blocked by Republican leaders in the senate today and it went over until tomorrow. A favorable report on the resolution was made by the committee on contingent expenses, and Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, asked unanimous consent for immediate consideration. Senators Lodge and Moses objected, and that ended the matter.

Smith Has the $150 Bonus Bill

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 26.—Governor Smith today had before him a bill providing for a bonus of $150 for every New York state veteran of the World War. The governor is certain to approve the measure because he recommended it in his annual message to the legislature. The bill was passed in both houses of the legislature without a dissenting vote.

Under the bill a bonus commission composed of the adjutant general, attorney general, state treasurer and state comptroller will be created. The bonus will be paid in monthly installments of $15. The first payments are expected to be made early in May. Under tentative plans the money will be distributed through the American Legion Post.

Voters at the last election almost unanimously approved an amendment to the constitution to permit the state to issue $15,000,000 in bonds to pay the bonus.

LIVE-YER DELEGATES AT TROY CONFERENCE

The Live-Yer Club of the local Y. W. C. A. had two delegates in attendance at the High School Girl Reserve conference held at the Troy association over this last weekend. They were Miss Marjorie Miller and Miss Martha Gold, and Miss Jean Estey, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., accompanied the young women.

All report a most interesting and inspiring conference which was attended by 150 delegates from the Girl Reserve clubs in this section of New York state. The principal speakers on the program were Miss Ruth Muskrat, an Indian young woman of international fame, and Miss Agnes Kidder, Girl Reserve Secretary from the National headquarters.

Each club was given an opportunity to report on its work and Miss Martha Gold responded for the Kingston Live-Yer Club, which is composed of High School freshmen and has the distinction of being the first club in the field. She was heartily applauded when she told about her club and its aims.

FATHER SCULLY ADDRESSES FOURTH DEGREE K. OF C.

Following the regular meeting of the Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, Monday evening at its rooms, Broadway and Avenue Street, a beautiful luncheon was served. The Rev. Joseph H. Scully, pastor of St. Mary's Church, was present and gave a talk on "The Big Brotherhood Movement."

A New York city professional entertainer delighted the assemblage with songs and latest jokes. Talented members, ability previously unknown, also entertained.

Vice Ring in Poughkeepsie.

A vice ring, trafficking in women, was revealed Monday by the police department of Poughkeepsie following the arrest Sunday of Virgil Martin, a Poughkeepsie Main street man, and preparations were made for the hearing of over 500 warrants to be served on as many men who are prominent in business and other circles. One of the warrants calls for the arrest of a political leader. Martin was arrested Monday in city court and waived examination and was remanded to jail in default of $1,000 bail. Two girls were also arrested.

Arrested for Parking.
George Smith of Fort Ewen was arrested Monday by Officer Fout on a charge of parking his car in the restricted area on Fair street. He will have a chance later to explain it to the judge.

An Ambulance Call.
Sophie Goldstein was removed from 349 Washington avenue to the Kingston City Hospital Monday in the ambulance.

Miss Roberts Signs for Ulster

Republican Committee Member Who Tried to Elect Democrat to Assembly Wants Return of State-Wide Primary.

A written demand for restoration of state-wide direct primaries, signed by many Republicans of the state, has been sent to Speaker Machold, it is learned by members of the assembly.

The demand is in the form of a letter, which states that "The Republican party of New York state must hasten to restore the state-wide direct primary system, which they helped to destroy at the request of Governor Miller or enter a presidential campaign as the announced champion of reaction and boss controlled conventions."

The letter bears the signatures, among others of William M. Calder, who was defeated for United States senator two years ago; Charles S. Whitman, former governor; Charles C. Lockwood of Brooklyn; Miss Mary Carroll Hay, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, Hamilton Fish, Jr., Nathan D. Perlman, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Timothy Healy, C. W. A. Cannon.

As representing Ulster county, the demand is signed by Miss Grace Van R. Roberts of Highland, who was a member of the Republican county committee from the primary election last September until she withdrew her name as a candidate for re-election in the spring primary, at the recent meeting of the county committee.

Miss Roberts was a member of Roberts & Young, who were active in the campaign last fall in trying to elect Holt N. Winfield, the Democratic candidate for assemblyman.

HUDSON FROZEN OVER AT POUGHKEEPSIE

Ice several inches in thickness has covered the river at Poughkeepsie for over a week since the cold snap has been in progress. This is the longest time the river has been frozen over this year. A channel is open from that city to New York and the Poughkeepsie of the Central Hudson Steamboat Company, is making her runs on a schedule time. A channel has also been kept open to Highland by the ferries and no delay has been encountered so far. No serious hindrance to navigation is expected by the boatmen this year, as the boats can plough through thin patches of ice and there is a very slight possibility of the river freezing to beyond that depth this season.

DRINKER FOAMS AT MOUTH FROM DENATURED ALCOHOL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Monticello, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Charles McDonald of Wartburg was taken into a garage and obtained a quart of denatured alcohol. Later he was found frothing at the mouth. A physician brought him around so he could talk and he admitted drinking the alcohol with water and mixing it with Jamaica ginger and drinking the concoction. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Holmes and is now in the Sullivan county jail. Apparently McDonald has recovered. Monday morning he was shoveling coal in the jail basement.

Daugherty to Resign in the Near Future

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 26.—Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty expects to resign from the cabinet as soon as he has made his defense in the charges against him in the senate—if events do not force his resignation before that time.

This is the understanding that prevailed today among the attorney general's friends and confidants.

He personally believes he can disprove every charge made by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, Montana. He believes he can prove them all to be of political origin. Strongly convinced of this, and confident that President Coolidge is back of him, at least to the extent of not requesting his resignation until he has had his day in court, the attorney general has begun the preparation of his defense.

There is reason to believe that this plan of Daugherty's has been discussed with President Coolidge and that it has his sanction, although the White House has been careful to observe almost complete silence as to the attorney general's status.

LUDENDORFF AND HITLER ARE PLACED ON TRIAL

Munich, Feb. 26.—Two fallen military idols—General Erich Ludendorff, known during the great war as "the brains of the German army," and Adolf Hitler, leader of the Bavarian Fascists—were placed on trial here today charged with high treason for their part in the "beer cellar revolt" last November.

In addition to Ludendorff and Hitler there are eight other defendants. Both Ludendorff and Hitler are confident of vindication. Both love their country with almost fanatic ardor. Both served in the war—Ludendorff as chief of staff to Hindenburg and quartermaster general of the German army; Hitler as a simple soldier in the ranks. Yet both are charged with high treason, the penalty of which is death.

The attitude of both is that of accused rather than defendant. They hope to turn the tables upon those whom they accuse of "double crossing" them in the famous Fascist uprising of less than 12 hours' duration.

DEADLOCK ON STATE WATERPOWER POLICY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Governor Smith and Speaker Machold, Republican leader of the assembly, are hopelessly deadlocked on state development of waterpower.

"We have agreed to disagree on waterpower," Speaker Machold said today.

EAST KINGSTON WELCOMES DARK NIGHTS' APPROACH

East Kingston is enjoying electric lights, the board of supervisors having established a lighting district at its annual meeting, and the electric lights having been used for the first, last week.

For several nights the moonlight was so bright that the electric lights were not noticed especially, but East Kingston residents are now welcoming the waning moon which will allow them to get their money's worth of electric lights.

TO PASS GOVERNOR'S TAX REDUCTION BILL

Morgenweck Protests Game

Played Sunday With Brooklyn—
Reason for Kingston's Failure
During Last Half on Foreign Courts Due To Referee's Timidity.

According to Frank Morgenweck, which by the way offers no surprise, the contest between the Kingston team and the Brooklyn team at Brooklyn Sunday evening was stolen from the local representatives. The reason for losing Sunday evening's game, as well as five other road games, according to the manager, is due to the referee. A referee values his life to a certain extent and when on some courts, he acts accordingly. Below is a copy of the protest of the game to the league president.

Another interesting matter, relative to the manner in which the local quintet has been treated especially during this last half is brought out by Morgenweck in the following facts: On Friday evening Trunton failed to use either Dunn or Glasco against the Visitation, while in Yonkers, the home club failed to use White, in both games the leaders were playing as Paterson was playing Yonkers. On the other hand in service against the Kingston team, Morgenweck claims that he had heard there was a players' committee against the Kingston team and that the Kingston team was proven.

The Kingston team was the same Sunday, says Manager Morgenweck, there is no question. The field goal that Nestor scored which was now allowed was nothing less than taking two points of the Kingston score. The statements Referee Ferguson made also shows that he really admitted that he was afraid to give the Kingston team its just dues in this game.

Morgenweck's letter to President Ferguson of the league follows:

College Point, L. I.,
Feb. 25, 1924.
Mr. John J. O'Brien,
President Metropolitan Basketball League,
New York City.

Dear Sir:
Herewith I am entering a vigorous protest of the game at Brooklyn Sunday. My grounds are as follows and I think confirm with our findings covering this matter.

No. 1, in the second half of this game Brooklyn had called and this time out. I do not know how much time was left to play at I think about 6 minutes were left. A spectator then struck Referee Ferguson, how hard on the facts of this protest, Ferguson ordered this man to be removed from the hall. Immediately the crowd was all over the floor. Efforts were made to clear the hall and at the end of two minutes I requested Captain Artus to demand the game be continued or protest which he did. After five minutes play was resumed. No foul was called although I think this matter was gone over carefully at our last meeting. This is one cause for my protest. The Kingston team had taken their number of times out and this time more than sufficient rest to finish the game. I have no complaint against the management but simply going according to rules. On another scrimmage on Feb. 25, Ferguson plainly called this foul. After clearing off the crowd he used to allow the foul. This was distinct times that the crowd up the game and no penalty awarded.

With the score a tie and only a seconds to go, a Brooklyn player blew the ball toward their basket. The time was short and I heard the Brooklyn timer to this player who I think was Brennan shot. As Brennan shot, Ferguson called a foul on shooter for running. As the ball was in the air the whistle blew. There is no doubt in my mind that this whistle was not blown until after this shot was taken. Immediately after the whistle blew the Brooklyn timer claimed he blew the whistle before the shot was made. Before the referee could even anything, Mr. Cody went out on the floor and took the ball away. No one what the claim was I also to know by what right a manager or owner or any one else can do. Then ensued another long fight. Here is my contention. The game was not up and the whistle was not blown until after the shot taken. The home timer was just the opposite, he claimed that he blew the whistle before the shot was taken. My son was a timer for us while I sat two away. In connection with this I twice requested the home to take his hands off the watch and was on the chair. He was holding the watch or handling which is distinctly against the rules. However, for point of rule the foul was called for running. This running of course must have happened before the shot and estimation that was still long when the shot was taken. Referee would not allow the foul called to stand. He requested play and put the matter before the league which meant an extra five minutes play which did not mean a time out to us. Before this happened time timer also informed me that he did not get his watch and that at the end of the half there was still ten seconds to play. This was never mentioned at the end. When the extra was to start his stop watch of order and my watch had stopped. And that watch of his was absolutely accurate before. He was claiming seconds. This when the referee called fouls when did not allow them to us. An easily see. Score a tie and practically ended. We were a free try. The chances were even for us to make this try. This is not all. In the cornering the entrance on right hand the ball was assaulted and the referee did not even call this a foul. Simply made it a name matters were gone into and you informed the

Diamond Jubilee at Phoenicia

Shandaken Lodge Celebrated Diamond Jubilee With Big Turkey Dinner and Public Meeting Monday Night.

Phoenicia, Feb. 26.—Shandaken Lodge, No. 258, Knights of Pythias, celebrated the Pythian Diamond Jubilee Monday night with a largely attended public meeting at Odd Fellows' Hall at Phoenicia, preceded by a turkey supper at the Central Hotel.

The celebration of the diamond jubilee at the lodge rooms began at 8 o'clock, with the officers and members of Shandaken Lodge occupying their customary stations, and with guests, visitors and wives of the members occupying all the remaining space in the hall.

The speakers of the evening and their subjects were: The Rev. C. F. W. Aherns, "Friendship"; J. H. Scherer, "Charity"; The Rev. W. R. Meeker, "Benevolence"; M. Claude Moseman, "Patriotism."

The turkey dinner at the Central Hotel was prepared and served by the men of the lodge under the direction of Proprietor Al Whispell, who announced several days ago that "Ladies' Night" at the lodge, which was held in combination with the diamond jubilee, would be inappropriate in its observance unless the ladies were relieved of all work in connection with the celebration. The men, accordingly, performed all the work. More than two hundred members and their wives and visitors enjoyed the turkey dinner, which was of mammoth proportions, one hundred and twenty-five pounds of turkey being served besides many other good things. Mr. Whispell proved himself the champion potato peeler and dish washer among the men, and handled both with the same dexterity he employs in catching trout in summer.

Shandaken Lodge has a large membership among the residents of Phoenicia and vicinity and is in a prosperous condition.

APPEAL FROM WEST SHORE TO I. C. C. AT WASHINGTON

In opposing before a state industrial commissioner in Kingston the claim of a widow for compensation for the death of her husband while employed as a conductor on the West Shore, the New York Central asserted the train from which the man fell was engaged in "interstate" commerce and therefore the railroad was not liable under the New York state law. The Central thus confirms a point heretofore made by The News—that the West Shore is an interstate railroad, and the proper authority to which to appeal for an improvement of passenger train service is the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington. The community on the west shore of the Hudson are not being given the service they are entitled to. They should not be dependent on east shore trains for through accommodations. They have their own railroad and should be served by it.—Newburgh News.

open door managers that vigorous action would be taken. I now demand that this game be given to us and I feel that the game was won by us. Another matter in which however I cannot claim any decision was, that in the first half, Nestor scored a clean field goal. After it was scored, the referee called a double foul and would not allow this goal to count. He claimed that Artus and Griebel had made a double foul. However he blew no whistle until after the field goal was scored. On the way home he informed me that Griebel struck Artus on the arm and that Artus used his elbows and still the pass was made to Nestor and the goal shot before he called this foul. Then on the double foul Conaty shot the foul. My contention was that Ferguson was so intimidated that he was unfit for work and after being struck he was afraid. I understand Ferguson is going to resign. In our presence on the way home he claimed that a referee could not work on those open floors. Summing up this long complaint, my protest is that on these two occasions fouls were called and then not allowed. Second that at the expiration of the second half the Brooklyn watch was not even fit to use much less to back an argument and that the timer's statements were not true. I am not making any personal complaints against the Brooklyn Management except that Mr. Cody also went on the floor took the ball which in itself was a foul even if the time was up. The referee had not blown his whistle up to that time. After the second half, the announcer went out and announced that if the crowd would come on the floor it would be a foul. Grimstead scored a field goal and immediately the referee had to call time out until the crowd was off the floor. No foul was called. I also want to call your attention that for the first time I was guilty of enabling a referee to take the halves. Powers came to me in our dressing room and advised me that Ferguson told him unless he was very careful he would be put out and fined $25.00. I immediately looked for Ferguson. I claimed that he was in that manner taking the playing value right of the man that was playing our best game and from the outside it evidently looked as if Powers was behaving. Our players also told me that during that entire half Brennan was swearing continuously and still Powers was warned. I based my claim that Ferguson had no right to do this but if Powers was really not jumping properly, he Ferguson should have enforced the rules and not make threats. Of a fine. This is the first time this year that I even spoke to a referee and Ferguson admitted it. I did not curse or swear as is the custom but I will admit that I was very much aroused. I herewith swear that this is a true statement of the facts as I saw and am taking this before a notary to back up my claim. I ask that this game be allowed us.

Very truly yours,
FRANK MORGENWECK,
Manager.

Breuchaud Was Denied Order

Restraint Removal of Winston's Books and Property—No Danger of Their Being Removed at Present, Rules Judge—James O. Winston Says Breuchaud is the Debtor.

In its issue of Wednesday, February 13, The Freeman published an item which it believed in all respects to be true, in which it was stated that a motion in an action brought by Jules Breuchaud in the United States district court against James O. Winston and Thomas S. Winston, alleging that he and the Winstons were co-partners and to recover $225,000 had been granted by Judge Goddard, restraining the Winstons from removing the property in their custody or the books of account which were kept in Kingston outside the jurisdiction of the southern district of New York, and in which it was also stated that Winston & Company had collected large sums of money from the city of New York and had made large profits on account of the construction of the Ashokan reservoir; that Winston & Company had received and disbursed large sums and had converted to their own use $300,000 which they charged on the books to operating expenses while such profits were in fact part of the net profits of the co-partnership. It was also stated that a portion of the machinery and equipment had been sold by Winston and not accounted for.

The Freeman was misled in the matter and instead of Judge Goddard, of the United States district court, granting the motion, he denied the application made by Mr. Breuchaud for such injunction, as appears by his order, which is as follows:

A motion having been made by the plaintiff for a restraining order during the pendency of this suit, as more particularly set forth in the papers upon which said motion was made, and the said motion having duly come on to be heard upon the return of an order directing the defendants to show cause why said motion should not be granted.

Now, upon reading and filing said order to show cause, dated January 28, 1924, the affidavit of plaintiff, Jules Breuchaud, verified January 28, 1924, thereto annexed, the equity subpoena, dated January 28, 1924, and the bill of complaint, verified January 28, 1924, in support of the motion, and the affidavit of defendant, James O. Winston, verified February 8, 1924, in opposition thereto, and after hearing MacDonald, De Witt, Esq., of counsel for plaintiff, in support of motion, and Martin Conboy, Esq., of counsel for defendant, in opposition thereto, and appearing thereon there is no intention on the part of defendants to remove any of the books of account, records or papers, the removal of which from this state and district by the defendants is sought to be enjoined by the plaintiff, and that there is no danger whatever that said books, records or papers will be removed from this state or district, and it further appearing that the defendants are willing, in the event that any of the plant, machinery, equipment and other property and things of value alleged to belong to the alleged joint enterprise referred to in the bill of complaint herein is sold, the moneys, choses in action or other things of value which shall be received by defendants in payment therefor shall be forthwith deposited in a special account, and that none of said property shall be removed from this state and southern district otherwise than as the result of a sale except upon notice to the plaintiff, it is Ordered that said motion be and the same hereby is in all respects denied without prejudice, however, to the plaintiff to renew the same, if in the opinion of the plaintiff a change in the circumstances warrant a renewal of such application.

HENRY W. GODDARD,
U. S. D. J.
Filed February 18, 1924.

A Freeman reporter who saw James O. Winston, the senior member of the firm at the office of Judge Chenoweth Monday afternoon was told by him that instead of James O. and Thomas S. Winston being indebted to Mr. Breuchaud, Mr. Breuchaud was indebted to them, that they had been endeavoring to secure the moneys owed them for the last two years and in that effort had been absolutely unsuccessful; that a corporation of which Mr. Breuchaud was president owed his brother and himself upward of $100,000 the payment of which Breuchaud had guaranteed; that they had endeavored in every way to avoid litigation and repeatedly had urged Mr. Breuchaud to go over all the accounts to reach an amicable adjustment without resort to litigation.

This he had always avoided, said Mr. Winston, and they were thunder-struck to be served with the papers in the suit begun in the United States District court, particularly as practically all of their enterprises had been carried on in the State of New York and there was no reason for proceeding before any other tribunal except those afforded by the courts of this state, except for the deliberate purpose of creating the impression of wrong doing on the part of the Winstons.

Mr. Winston said neither he nor his brother ever suggested or thought of removing their books from the state of New York to any other jurisdiction, that the property they sold was disposed of in order to accomplish the adjustment. Winston said Mr. Breuchaud never was a partner of his brother or himself, that the only relation which existed between them was that Mr. Breuchaud was an engineer who had acted in an advisory capacity to them at a fixed compensation and a percentage upon the net profits and it was the desire to secure from Mr. Breuchaud a final adjustment, which would disclose this overpayment that had resulted in precipitating Mr. Breuchaud's lawsuit.

WEIRD STORY OF MUMMIFIED HAND THAT CAME TO LIFE.

Count Louis Hamon, noted world traveler, cured a native Egyptian of malaria 30 years ago. In gratitude the Egyptian presented him with a mummified hand, said to have been that of a sister-in-law of King Tutankh-Amen, whose tomb was discovered later by the Earl of Carnarvon and Howard Carter. The Count recently decided to destroy the grewsome relic by tossing it into the fire of his magnificent residence near London. Immediately, he reports, there appeared passion flowers among the flames, surrounding the faint form of the hand and shoulders of a woman. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion, wrecking the front of the Hamon mansion and breaking every window in the structure. Then the vision of the woman disappeared.

Salvationists Ordered
OUT OF SECRET SOCIETIES.
General Booth's Order Creates Sensation in "Army."
Constitution so bitter that it may lead to a split between the American and English branches of the Salvation Army is reported to have taken place as the result of orders recently attributed to Gen. Bramwell Booth in London directing all army officers to quit any secret societies to which they may belong and prohibiting officers from joining these societies in future. The order is interpreted as an effort on the part of Gen. Booth to oust his sister from her post as chief of the American Army and make the inclusion tributary to London.

It is pointed out that the Masons and the Elks are both included in the order and in the United States both are closely linked up with the Salvation Army. Both are said to be referred to disparagingly in the order. An article in the Staff Review said to have been approved by Gen. Booth said: "The most ardent admirer of any of these orders would not attempt to argue that their functions are conducive to search after God."

It is known that Gen. Booth has been anxious to make a change in the status of his sister, Commander Evangeline Booth. This was accomplished in 1920 but was not pressed because of the protests of the fraternal and wealthy contributors to the army.

It is not believed that the order will have any effect in Kingston, since it is not known that any of the officers here have any membership in the secret orders. It is a fact, however, that the army locally has had the sympathy and support of many Masons and it had the sympathy and active support of the Elks, who conducted at least one successful money raising campaign for the army. The Elks have been urged by the grand exalted ruler to assist the Salvation Army wherever possible.

Things Wherein We Are Remiss

Clearwater, Addressing a So- ciety of George Washington, Points Out Evil That Has Resulted From Unrestricted Immigration— Senate a School for Scandal.

Judge Clearwater who was the principal speaker at the dinner of the Society of the Cincinnati at the Union Club in New York city, on the evening of Washington's Birthday, gave a brilliant address, members of that historic organization coming from Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Virginia and South Carolina. Among them were four governors of states and seven former United States senators.

In responding to the toast, "Yesterday and Today," he said he was reminded of an incident related by the Bishop of Oxford who said on his visit to the United States, he attended the Congress of Religions at Chicago, and was invited to make a five minute address upon the advance of civilization since the dawn of Christianity. "Large as was the subject," said the judge, "it resolved itself into a consideration of the controlling question whether as a people we were better today than in that yesterday which so many ill-equipped and sensational speakers regarded as a golden age."

With them he had no sympathy and for them no respect. While as a nation we had not attained the apotheosis of perfection, we greatly had improved during the half century which had passed since first he entered public life, and notwithstanding sporadic violations of law, the whole tenor of life in the United States was upon a far higher plane than fifty years ago it was. The very fact that the slightest personal dishonesty was sufficient to destroy the usefulness of men in public life was a demonstration of the truth of this. In some marked respects, however, we were lamentably indifferent, especially so in those sections of the country where the espousal of destructive radicalism was regarded as an achievement and rewarded with personal and political preferment. It was this defect which had degraded the present senate of the United States into a school of scandal, surpassing in vitriolic spleen Sheridan's great comedy but unfortunately resplendent in tragedies. It was disheartening to find senators acting like Charles Darnay, each seeking to set his head above the others in order that by an excessive exaltation of virtue he might possibly climb from the senate to the presidency.

Another remissness of the day was the vast web of bureaucratic entanglements which had been built up by the government, not by law, but by the will of men making for the first time a government of men, and not of laws. All this was the result of the great right of citizenship which had been lost. Treating as yesterday the history of the United States from 1789, there were no wiser men in the senate of the United States than those who had been elected in 1899, and the influence of those who had been elected in 1899 was not to be despised. It was difficult for him who believed in liberty to see how the government had become a machine, and the upshot of this was that the government was no longer a government, but a machine, and the machine was not to be despised.

The machine was not to be despised because of the character of the person who was in charge of it, but because of the character of the machine itself. The man who was in charge of it was not to be despised because of his character, but because of the character of the machine itself. The machine was not to be despised because of the character of the person who was in charge of it, but because of the character of the machine itself.

Black stockings have entirely vanished from fashionable scenes, and white ones are making their exit as well. However, white woolen hose in striped effects are worn for golf and occasionally with sports clothes. Another extreme which has registered is the use of old-fashioned pen painting, known as Kensington art. Victorian in spirit, if ever anything was! Applied with restraint and on chiffons and such fabrics this type of decoration is beyond reproach. It has been used to decorate velvet coat linings, on hats and all manner of things, and not always wisely or well.

Hand painting in great splashy designs is the piece de resistance of several shawls credited to the Chausse Souris mania. Shawls have attained such a prominence in the Southern wardrobe that no type can be scorned. Shawl dresses are also encountered to a lesser extent. Among the most recent ones noted was a frock developed of an ivory silk square fringed in self color, the set floral design on each corner making two spots of color, below the shoulder and at the hem, both front and back.

DEALING IN EXTREMES IN PALM BEACH MODES

(By Eleanor Gunn).

Extremes may have an interest for only a relatively small group of women, so that the fact that Paisley printed stockings have made their debut at Palm Beach may not be of general importance. Any effort to launch a new mode has a certain significance, and with women wearing beige, flesh and nude stockings from morn till midnight, it is logical that someone should make an attempt to divert the minds of women into other channels.

Pastel printed hose in small Persian patterns on champagne or beige are not as extraordinary as they sound. One might argue that with triangular and diamond motif sports hose scoring among golfers, figures were not amiss for the quiet moments of the day. However, they are here, for us to take or leave according to our prejudices and the size of our ankles.

Another extreme which has registered is the use of old-fashioned pen painting, known as Kensington art. Victorian in spirit, if ever anything was! Applied with restraint and on chiffons and such fabrics this type of decoration is beyond reproach. It has been used to decorate velvet coat linings, on hats and all manner of things, and not always wisely or well.

Hand painting in great splashy designs is the piece de resistance of several shawls credited to the Chausse Souris mania. Shawls have attained such a prominence in the Southern wardrobe that no type can be scorned. Shawl dresses are also encountered to a lesser extent. Among the most recent ones noted was a frock developed of an ivory silk square fringed in self color, the set floral design on each corner making two spots of color, below the shoulder and at the hem, both front and back.

Mary Succeeds on Main Street
By LAURA MILLER

WHERE TRADITION AND MODERNISM MEET

The oldest museum in America has been entrusted to the direction of a woman. One hundred and fifty years ago the fathers of the Carolinas who had settled Charleston established the first scientific museum in America. About that time the wife of the governor of Connecticut became insane. Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts, with all the dignity of his office and his colonial scholarship, announced: "Had she not come out of her way and calling to muddle in such things as are proper for men, whose minds are stronger, she had kept her wits." Yet the poor governor's lady was far, in her simple desire for reading, from seeking such knowledge as would fit her to be curator of a scientific institution.

Miss Laura M. Bragg, however, is said to be capable to keep her wits, for she is not only with her husband, a scientist, but also a business woman who has placed the museum on a sound financial basis. In addition, her work is so completely imbued with her vision that the educational service rendered the community has astonished the museum board of governors.

An exhibit added through her foresight consists of ancient prescriptions, mortars and the early American glass bottles which accumulated in the oldest drug store in Charleston. When it was moved to modern quarters, the antique equipment was destined for the dump heap until Miss Bragg asked to make it one of the most interesting exhibits of the museum.

Daughter of a Methodist minister, she seems always to have understood people. A young B. S. fresh from technical training in biology and library work, she started a museum at Owl's Island, Me., consisting mainly of fish and shells of the vicinity, which greatly interested the native population. Visitors to the convention of the American Association of Museums, which met in Charleston in April to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth birthday of the museum, found the same commingling of scientific and neighborhood spirit in Miss Bragg's work. Alongside the rare antique furniture of the old South which draws connoisseurs from afar, are classes in modeling for Charleston children, and in simple research for their elders.

TRIO OF FAMOUS BARKS QUIT SEA

Norwegian Craft Among Last of Sailing Vessels.

More than forty years ago, when steam on the seas was just approaching a lusty maturity and sails yet dotted the far-flung horizons of Neptune. In every quarter of the globe, three barks, destined by a grim fate to be among the last of their proud species, set sail from the famous shipyards of the Clyde for adventures in storms and calms on all the seven seas.

They were the Dava Lisbon, the Dava Rio and the Alexandria—three sister sailing ships that have carried the flag of Norway to the ports of the world, weathered many wild seas and faithfully brought their cargoes to scores of ports without injury and but with little delay. All three are well known in the port of Mobile, and all three were laid up there from two to four years.

Among Princes of the Sea. These three barks were among the prizes of the sea when they set forth on their countless voyages, and no finer three barks have ever been built. Their design was of the best, they were constructed of Swedish iron, the finest material ever known for shipbuilding, and worth, according to J. H. Oliver & Co., their Mobile agents, $750,000 apiece.

Swedish iron is practically rust-proof and almost indestructible. It is no longer used, however, in the building of ships because of its tremendous cost, and although the modern steam vessels can boast of many superiorities and comforts that sailing ships never knew, not one in a thousand is built of this fine and rare metal that a half century ago marked the zenith of shipbuilding material.

Neither rust nor corrosion attacks Swedish iron and the hulls of vessels constructed of it are much prized among marine men and make some old sailing ships very valuable today, which would be almost worthless if built of any other material.

Manned by Hardy Seamen.

In addition to being constructed of Swedish iron, all three barks have been manned by the stern, staunch sailors of the land of Eric the Red, sailors of a breed who dared to sail oceans of uncharted waves long before the compass was ever invented, and whose descendants today are among the hardest of men of the sea.

But these barks, like their sister sailing ships of every nationality, are now to retire from their sea, or perhaps have their way-scattered old hulls filled with engines and wireless apparatus—and that is the point of this story. Sails have reached their dotage, steam is in its full grown maturity, and oil-burners are in a lusty adolescence. Consequently the Alexandria, the Dava Rio and the Dava Lisbon have but a very short time in which to proudly float their sails as they plow the deep with their iron nosed bows.

The Dava Lisbon, commanded by a doughty Norse skipper, is now cutting the Atlantic on her last voyage as a sailing ship. She is bound for Grangemouth, Scotland, and has been sold to German interests. The Lisbon was laid up at Mobile for nearly four years.

Days of Adventure End. The Dava Rio, commanded by another doughty Norseman, Captain Larsen, departed from Mobile last September after being laid up over two years. She went first to Pensacola and then to Fleetwood, England, also. It is said, on her final sailing voyage, she too has been sold and it is understood that she will be scrapped.

The Alexandria, which came to Mobile, Ala. over three years ago, is now in the southern drydock prior to sailing on what is said to be her farewell voyage to salt and sea. She, too, has been sold and will probably be scrapped.

Commanded by Capt. H. Anderson, the Alexandria will take a cargo of lumber out of that port in two or three weeks for Birkenhead, England. She will be the last of that famous trio of old-time barks who will spread her sails to the wind outside Mobile bay, unless the interests who have purchased her decide to keep her in sailing service, which is unlikely in these days of the rapid passing of sails from the ocean.

But these three barks are only a few of many that have gone to the "graveyard" of sailing ships in these days of steam and wireless. It will be but a brief time until the others will go. And as rapidly as they pass, so passes romance and adventure from the seas.

RUSS EXILES FIND NEW HOMES IN UNITED STATES

Several Generals Among Hundreds of Refugees Who Have Settled in California.

California has absorbed most of the 700 Russians who, exiled from their homes in Siberia by the Red occupation last year, arrived in San Francisco from Manila on the United States transport Merritt and were admitted to this country by special dispensation of the government. Many of them have taken out their first papers for American citizenship, and it is reported that all are employed.

The majority of these people have gone into factories, according to the editor of Russian Life, a local weekly. These include several generals in the army under the czar and a number of ex-colonels and lesser officers. Among the factory hands also are engineers, mechanics and other men with a high degree of technical training who were handicapped in their trades by not knowing the English language and thus have taken unskilled employment pending better opportunities.

"Yet they all seem contented to be here and work humbly," the Russian Journalist said. "This seems a paradise compared with what they have been through. The last year or so of their life in Siberia was a terror of dodging bullets and hiding from enemies. Then came their long wandering in Admiral Stark's fleet of homeless Russians. They were driven from port to port—Japan, China, Manila—until finally a charitable government received them here and they were free."

The contingent included a number of professional men, physicians, lawyers, artists and musicians, as well as representatives of the following callings: motorman, stenographer, draftsman, painter, wireless operator, electrician, farmer, fishermen, clerk, fireman, aviator, gardener, chauffeur, sailor, seamstress, cook, fitter.

Stock-Killing Animals Poisoned by U. S. Men

One stock-killing bear, 100 coyotes, 18 bobcats and five raccoons were sent to the happy hunting grounds in Washington during the month of December by the federal, state and co-operative hunters, according to the report of Glenn R. Bach, predatory animal inspector for the biological survey for Washington.

Poison operations were carried on extensively in eastern Washington, and the report states there is no doubt but that many animals were killed which were not recovered and included in the count. A total of 5,241 poison baits were reported placed in December, in defeating the activity along this line in the warfare on the wily coyote.

Dog Refuses to Leave Body of Its Slain Mate

The loyalty of a dog to its mate as well as to its master was demonstrated when an automobile ran down and killed one of a pair of canines at Millington, Ore. Passerby took the body of the dead dog to the side of the road and the mate stayed with it constantly till removed.

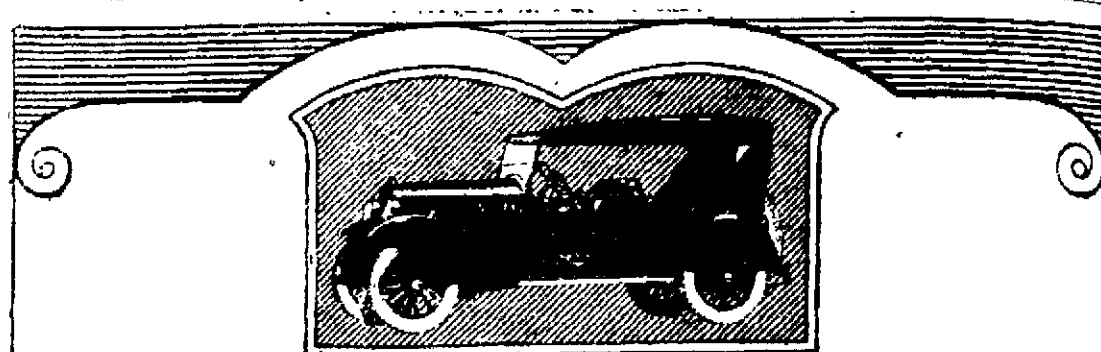

Jay Carter, a stage driver on the highway between Coos bay and Coquille, reported the incident after having fed the animal, having seen his constancy for nearly two days. Efforts to coax the animal away from its mate were fruitless.

U. S. Preserves Animals

In the 147 national forests of the United States there are 215,000 big game animals. It is estimated that these forests are maintained by the government. More than four-fifths of the animals in the forests are deer, it is said.

Y. W. C. A., Mr. C. E. ... that in the case of that organization it would probably be expected that the Community Chest would provide the necessary funds for financing the same over and over their membership.

Captain Miller of the Salvation Army, who has but recently come to Kingston, said that in two out of three cities where he had been stationed the Community Chest had not been a success. It was a failure in Tarrytown because the large donors preferred to give according to their own ideas to whom and when. In Western New York it was not fifty-fifty as to the success of the plan, and Captain Miller said he was not recently come to Kingston to express an idea of the desirability of such a plan here.

Alva H. Bogart, speaking for the Scouts, said that Kingston's Community Chest was to be a duplication of effort. Why could we have had a dozen drives instead of one? The common-sense of the people ought to prevail and use them to plan a budget for their needs which could be provided through the community chest. As for people giving only half as much toward the community chest as they would give if they donated to the various drives as now, Mr. Bogart thought there must be something in the matter of the community chest.

Samuel Watts, who like Dr. Day regarded the late after the burnt edges of the last community chest campaign, said he doubted the possibility of putting over a community chest in Kingston, for the large donors here are not in favor of it. While it would be a magnificent idea as far as the workers are concerned, Mr. Watts was very skeptical as to results from the viewpoint of receiving sufficient funds and support to be successful.

It took the Rev. Dr. Frank D. Seely to really crystallize the sense of the meeting. He thought it absolutely necessary to consider the feasibility of a community chest. The character of the people and the personal element of giving is very different in a city the size of Kingston from a large city, where the people of large means can ease their minds and hearts of much responsibility by giving largely into a community chest and have their philanthropic duties over with. But in a city the size of Kingston, the personal element of the giving, Dr. Seely considered of paramount value, and he thought that the community chest would surely dampen the enthusiasm of the people in their giving to different needs in the city. He considered that charity was not a matter of dollars and cents, but of heart interest on the part of the people, who because of their interest give to the support of a cause. He thought that the community chest would help neither the cause nor the people.

The Rev. Father Scully was then introduced by Mr. Coo, and expressed himself as of the same opinion as Dr. Seely, that civic development along the line of intangible ideals would be retarded rather than aided by a community chest. He believed that the personal interest in our philanthropies was of even more value than the legal tender, and the service of the people of a community essential to the vitalizing of their giving. He was ready to endorse anything for the public good of the community but doubted the practical or ideal value of the community chest.

Herman Duflois, speaking for a delegation from the American Legion, said that if that organization were to have a drive as they contemplated, they would not be asking for support from the community, but for aid in securing a home in Kingston which they would support themselves, and he doubted if they would be served by a community chest.

Mrs. C. N. Reed suggested, that since there was so much disfavor shown toward the community chest, it might be well to consider some way of remedying the evils of the drive system. In her solicitude she had found the complaint to be not so much against being asked to support worthy causes in the community as to the fact that the drives have been coming three and four and more at a time, imposing a real burden upon many people who would gladly contribute to all at intervals as their incomes would come along and make it possible. Many would prefer to do this rather than make long-time pledges, which conservative-minded, conscientious people hesitate to do lest, for some unavoidable reason, they may not make good. She thought that if there could be a clearing house for drives of the various drives, so that they would be set to come at convenient times it might help. This idea was considered of value by Secretary Coo and Dr. Seely who moved that it be the sense of the meeting that a community chest was not deemed advisable for Kingston at this time, but that there be a clearing house for dates for the non-sary drives created, and Mr. Watts added the amendment that the Chamber of Commerce act as such clearing house. The motion was unanimously carried.

Then on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Coo said he was greatly pleased to see so many out and most cordially welcomed all to the new Chamber of Commerce quarters. The Chamber of Commerce was said to be vitally interested in all of the organizations represented and was at the service of all. If meetings would wait be held in the headquarters they were for the people of Kingston to use, and they would be glad also to give clerical aid at any time.

After a little further discussion of Kingston's needs, the meeting stood adjourned.

Three Boys Punished for Robbing Mail

New Orleans.—Three small boys, ten, eleven and twelve years old, pleaded guilty to tampering with and robbery of mail boxes and were sentenced in Federal District court to serve four years each in the government training school for boys at Washington, D. C. They are Harold Schultz, ten years old; Jesse James Musgrave, eleven, and Joseph Brown, negro, twelve. The boys were arrested recently by city police who caught them riding a mail box.

New Yorker Bequeathed Estate to Scottish Relatives.

New York.—Robert Innes, who lived at the Mills hotel in Blooming street and died in Bellevue hospital on May 14, 1923, was believed to be poor, but the transfer tax report of his estate filed here recently shows that Public Administrator James J. Frawley found assets of $103,533, chiefly in cash, stocks and bonds. The public administrator also found that Innes was survived by a brother, John Innes, and a sister, Mrs. Isabella Inglis, both of Greenock, Scotland, who divided his estate equally.

The associates and friends of Innes thought that he had a few dollars in savings banks because he kept bank books in a box at the Mills hotel, but he dressed poorly and left no personal articles worth while appraising. He had only $13 in his possession when he was removed to Bellevue to die; his watch was nickel and the chain was brass.

The public administrator found that Innes had $8,214 in five savings banks, and he discovered later that a safe deposit box rented by Innes contained bonds worth $23,704 and stocks valued at $65,625. Among the items were $2,037 in United States Treasury notes; $11,200 in Liberty bonds; $3,000 in Kingdom of Denmark bonds; $3,000 Santa Fe 4s, and $10,000 Missouri Pacific 4s. His stocks consisted of 250 United States Steel common, $24,750; 250 Atchafalpa railroad, $21,375; 100 Southern Pacific, $9,000; 100 Pacific Oil, $6,500 and 300 Missouri Pacific common, $6,725.

U. S. Flyers Brave Death to Photograph Volcano

Hilo, Island of Hawaii.—Airplane photographs of the fire of an active volcano were taken recently by United States army pilots, who successfully performed this daring feat over Kilauea, the largest continuously active volcano in the world.

A group of four planes did the work. In a sudden descent directly over the inner crater they went down to within a few hundred feet of the roaring inferno of lava within the encircling walls.

Heavily buffeted by the up-rush of superheated air and gas fumes arising from the pit, the aviators drove their planes straight ahead, while the daring photographers leaning far outboard took a series of rapid-fire photographs of the tumultuous molten lava directly beneath them, according to witnesses of the feat. A series of unusually graphic views was taken.

Those who participated in the flight were Lieuts. J. M. McCulloch, W. N. Arms and Ned Schramm; Capt. R. G. Hoyt, communication officer; R. C. Wriston, photographer, and three enlisted men.

Frenchman Blames Wife for Slur, Escapes Duel

Turin, Italy.—The threatened duel between Bruno Gennelli, Italian war hero, and M. Cassagnan, French horticulturist, is definitely off, the latter declaring his wife wrote the letter defaming the Italian army, which brought forth Gennelli's challenge.

The affair started with the belittling of Italian products in a French horticultural catalogue. A woman member of a distinguished family of Turin wrote a letter of protest after reading one of these catalogues, and in reply received a communication, apparently from M. Cassagnan, containing accusations of cowardice against Italian officers and soldiers.

Gennelli, who holds the gold medal for military valor, promptly telegraphed the Frenchman begging him to consider himself "sincerely invited" and challenging him to a meeting on the field of honor. Cassagnan now designates his wife as the cause of all the trouble.

Doctor Plays Solo for Guests, Then Ends Life

Seattle, Wash.—Two minutes after he had finished playing a clarinet solo at a musical recently in the house of Dr. F. B. Whiting, and without any warning to the guests, Dr. Albert F. Mattice, forty, a Seattle dentist, picked up a revolver from a case near the window and fatally shot himself, dying shortly afterwards.

Doctor Whiting declared that the revolver was his and that he had taken it from his grip on removing some music. He said he had placed it near the window.

According to friends attending the musicale, no motive could be found for Doctor Mattice's actions, as he appeared to be in the best of spirits.

A High Grade Security To Finance Local Development

John Moody, President of Moody's Investor's Service, in a special analysis of the public utility field, says:

"We have come to regard public utility securities taken as a whole as the most desirable and attractive class in the investment market today. More favorably and intelligently regulated than the steam railroads, fundamentally more stable in every respect than the average industrial enterprise, the public utilities of the country face an assured future confronted by one great problem—to finance expansion of their facilities rapidly enough to take care of the steadily increasing volume of business offered them.

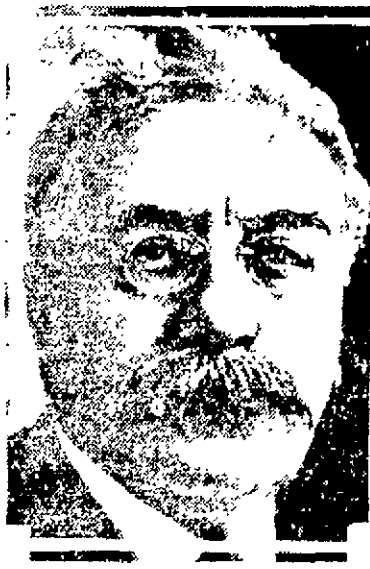

"It is evident", Mr. Moody says, "that the power companies represent one of the most important and most stable of the basic industries; that their future, simply on the basis of past accomplishment is definitely assured for a considerable time to come, and that well placed mortgage bonds of the strongest of these companies may be freely classified among the highest grade of investment securities."

United Hudson Bonds have an especial appeal to investors in the Central Hudson Valley because all the Company's structures and properties are located here, and are familiar features of local interest and importance. Also, the purchaser of these bonds has the satisfaction of knowing that his investment will help finance extensions and improvements of an essential service that is an important factor in the growth and development of his community and of the Central Hudson Valley.

IMPORTANT FIGURES IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

King Victor Emmanuel of Italy is reported seriously ill of influenza. In an effort, it is alleged, tooust his sister, Commander Evangeline Booth, as chief of the Salvation Army in America, General Bramwell Booth has issued orders in London that all officers must resign from secret organizations. Modern day (es, especially the "shimmy" and "camel's walk," are severely condemned by the Osservatore Romano, official organ of the Vatican, in approving the campaign of Cardinal Borgia, Archbishop of Quebec, against them. It is said in Paris that H. H. Rogers, American multi-millionaire, is hoping the marriage of his daughter, Millicent, to Count Salm von Hoegstraten, with whom she eloped in New York, will end in divorce because he is withholding funds from them. President Millerand, of France, is said to back a plan of the Comite des Forges, union of great iron masters, to suspend the French Constitution and establish a Fascist dictatorship. After denying that she was to marry Russell Colt, divorced husband of Ethel Barrymore, Jessie Reed, of the Ziegfeld Follies, "highest salaried chorus girl in the world," has been married in Chicago to W. F. Young, Jr., poster advertising man. She had been divorced by Dan Caswell, son of a wealthy lawyer and a family.

A BOY SCOUT BIRD HOUSE BUILDING CONTEST

The February number of the Colonial Scout, published by the Ulster County Council of Boy Scouts, contains the announcement of a bird house building contest for Ulster county Scouts. The contest is open to all Scouts in the county and the completed houses must be brought to Scout headquarters at 442 Broadway not later than March 29. The rules governing the contest are contained in the announcement.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS

Says glass of Salts help to Overcome Rheumatism Acids.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kind.

Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids, resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

K. O. Scored Over Coffey

Pittsfield Crowd Shows Its Admiration of His Courage as He Comes Back Strong After Repeated Knockdowns.
Vince Coffey, local welterweight of this city, gained a number of eastern admirers Monday evening, although he was knocked out in the fifth round at Pittsfield by Tracey Ferguson, of Meriden, Conn. Coffey was knocked down five times before the referee finally stopped the bout, figuring it would be unsafe to allow the local boxer to continue because of the way Ferguson had punished him with punches below the heart.

Coffey was game. After being knocked down several times he would fight back, and at times had his opponent dazed. Reports come from Pittsfield that the final round was one of the greatest ever witnessed, due to the courage of the Kingston boxer. Coffey was knocked down twice in this round, once for the count of nine.

Kingston May Get Revenge

Tonight at the Armory Court Against Brooklyn Combination—The Last League Game Friday Night With Paterson.

This evening at the local armory court a basketball game will be staged which will be interesting from a number of angles. The Morgenweck club were not given the best of treatment Sunday evening at Brooklyn court, when according to the protest by Morgenweck to the league president, the game was virtually stolen from Kingston. Brooklyn plays here tonight. It is certain that the local manager will not permit the team of supporters to reproach, but it is more than certain that the team will do all in its power to give Brooklyn a drubbing and knock its pennant aspirations asunder.

Carl Husta will not be in the lineup this evening as he is still sick. In all probability, Noror will be in a forward position with M. Husta or Stevenson with Powers and Anderson for the center position and Artus and Newman at guard.

There will be one more game to be played in the Metropolitan League on the local court and that will happen Friday evening when the Paterson quintet, league leaders, will be here.

Pitcher Is Hampered by Curling Eyelashes

Curly eyelashes has been added to the list of baseball players' ailments, along with Charlie Horse, stone bruise and others. It became known upon receipt of a telegram at Chicago club headquarters from Ernest Osborne, elongated pitcher of the Chicago Nationals, who underwent an operation at Atlanta, Ga., to be relieved from the annoyance.

Osborne said that the ailment was entirely different from that of an ingrown hair. The lashes grew out, he said, turned toward the eyeball, causing great annoyance and at times impairing his sight.

MORAN'S DEPARTURE IS BLOW TO CENTRE

Little Mountain College Has Released Noted Coach.

Centre college, the little mountain school in the state of Kentucky, has suffered a body blow. For Charley Moran, the man who put that college on the football map with a bang and then kept it there, has left. The college officials have released him from a contract which had four years more to run that he might accept a more lucrative one offered by Bucknell college at Lewisburg, Pa. Their action was taken, they made it plain, to show as best they could their appreciation of his services.

Moran played football at the University of Tennessee and made a name for himself there. Later he starred with the famous Massillon (O.) professional team. Then he broke into baseball. Was a teammate of Tris Speaker at one time. Later he became an umpire and in between seasons coached football teams.

Came the season of 1917. Charley's son was playing with Centre college. The team was being licked by everybody. Moran went to Danville, Ky., one day to see the team action. Struck with the spirit of the school against what seemed like hopeless conditions Moran offered to coach the squad. His offer was taken up and a few weeks later Centre signalled its rebirth by licking the University of Kentucky, its most hated rival, in the annual game.

The next year war played havoc with football schedules, teams and dope. But in 1919 the team played nine games, won all of them and piled up 478 points while allowing its opponents just 23. It licked West Virginia, 14 to 6. Just after the West Virginia squad had walloped Princeton.

The next year Centre tackled Harvard and stunned the football world by playing the Crimson off its feet early in the game. Superior weight and reserve strength finally told, however, and Harvard triumphed. The next year the mountain lads licked Harvard.

That marked the high-water stage in Centre's career, but it has had a team to reckon with ever since. Moran's departure is a body blow to the little school.

Morgenweck for Valley League

Says the Poughkeepsie Evening Star.

A basketball league to be composed of the cities of Kingston, Hudson, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Yonkers for next season has been proposed and Frank Morgenweck, manager of Kingston in the Metropolitan League, is the father of the plan.

According to reliable information received here St. Mary's will receive the bid to represent Poughkeepsie and it is also known that Gartland, manager of the Saints, is thinking seriously about the proposition.

Wappingers Falls may also be added to the circuit and it is expected that Morgenweck will let his plans be known to the managers of the city teams mentioned with regard to their plans for next season. A league, followers of basketball here say, would be a paying proposition and at the same time give the fans opportunity of seeing some of the biggest stars in the game perform weekly. Kingston will support its league team and Poughkeepsie would do likewise as the Saints have a team which shapes up with the best of them. Kingston, with Benny Bergman, was only able to nose Poughkeepsie out in an exhibition game here recently by a low margin.

The attitude of the older managers in nearby cities towards the proposed league will probably be sounded when Morgenweck calls a conference for those interested. Hudson Valley League games could be played twice a week and the Saints could use either the Knights of Columbus Hall or the South Hamilton street gymnasium. The court at St. Mary's is small for crowd accommodations but the Institute is plenty big enough to stage the games.

Morgenweck is expected to talk the matter over again with Gartland in the very near future.

Mountaineers Talk Baseball

Nucleus Picked For Tannersville. Team—Jaskin, Dugans, Harris and Deetjen To Play In Mountains—Martin To Manage Outfit and Play Short.

Tannersville will have a baseball team again this year. Arrangements are being formulated for the organization of a fast team to represent this village again in 1924.

Kingston, Ontario, Stamford and the Red Sox of Poughkeepsie will be represented again this year. There is a movement under foot to organize a team at Red Hook by consolidating the baseball activities of three towns in that vicinity.

Jack Martin, for many years manager of the Daytona team in the Florida State League and an ex-player in the big leagues will probably be engaged to manage the Mountaineers. Martin will also play short-stop in addition to his managerial duties. Soddy Porter will be back and with him will come Walter Shannon, who has played for several seasons in the Florida league with "Soddy" and under the management of Martin.

"Tubby" Raskin, with his mighty wallop, will be here and also Irving Harris; two good all-round ball players.

"Demon" Deetjen, who downed Old Warhup on the Kingston diamond, may be expected to do the star twirling for the mountain club.

At last, but by no means least, Leo Dugan and his brother will cavort around the outfield and drag 'em out of the air to the dismay of many a would-be base hitter.

There will be a nucleus to build a team around. Deetjen in the box, Shannon at first, "Soddy" holding down second sack, Martin covering short and the two Dugans and "Tubby" way-out-ponder.—The Tannersville Times-Record.

MIXTURE OF SIX HEALING OILS STOPS COLDS QUICK

Opens Nostrils in a Jiffy—Drives Out Inflammation of Deep Chest Colds and Sore Throat—Wards Off "Flu," Etc.

A remarkable new combination of six antiseptic oils has been perfected that works wonders in all kinds of colds, inflammation, catarrh, etc. Its great effectiveness is said to be due to the quick results it brings, thus often preventing pneumonia, "flu" and other dangerous complications. The blending of six healing oils with a petroleum base forms a sort of ointment which is called WONDEROL. It certainly brings amazing relief to both head and chest colds. No home should be without it during this cold-breeding weather. The new remedy for colds is so easy to use that it is much to be preferred to nauseous mixtures to be taken internally that upset the stomach and irritate the nerves. Now simply apply WONDEROL on the outside of the throat and chest, also up the nostrils. The combination of healing oils penetrates instantly and thus the effects of the cold are quickly overcome. For croupy colds of children nothing works so surely to heal and to prevent dangerous complications as this new WONDEROL, which can be procured at first class drug stores everywhere. In Kingston it is sold by Dedrick's Drug Store, Mabon & Walker, Druggists, and Connelly Drug Company.

WRITING LOVE LETTERS IS HER BUSINESS.

Miss Lillian Ann Wippler, a public stenographer of New York City, has made an extremely profitable business out of her ability to compose the correct sort of love letter for a man to send to his lady fair. Her office in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel is always a busy place for travelers from afar, men who are too bashful to communicate their amour to the girl they left behind, or who lack confidence in their ability to pen the proper sweet nothings.

A Coincidence.
Upon looking for his shoes outside a bedroom door in a hotel, a guest discovered one black and one tan shoe. He called the porter's attention to the error. The porter scratched his head in bewilderment. "Well! That's the second time that mistake's happened this morning!"

Ancient Dolls.
In the British museum in London are toys that are 3,000 years old, which were taken from the tombs of Egypt. The dolls have clay heads for hair, and some of the toys show the tasks of Egyptian artisans as they were accomplished hundreds of years before the birth of Christ.

Twelve Minutes to Get "Central"

Telephone Service Worse Than War-time—For Emergencies It Is Safer to Send Messenger Than Try to Telephone.

Telephone service in Kingston, which has been getting poorer steadily for a long time, has about reached the limit of inefficiency, in the opinion of the public, although telephone experts are said to believe that it is possible for it to become still worse.

On Sunday night, twelve minutes were occupied by two members of one family in trying to get "Central," but at the end of that time the attempt was given up. Ten minutes later when another member of the household lifted the hook, "Central" answered.

The attempt to get "Central" was made at the close of an out-of-town call, and as soon as the party calling could look up the local number, "Central" did not answer. The out of town party had hung his receiver on the hook at the close of the talk, and the Kingstonian had done likewise, but the Kingston man, supposing he might still be connected with long distance, hung his receiver on the hook and waited about thirty seconds. There was no answer yet. Then he followed the instructions printed in the telephone book, to move the hook slowly up and down, and alternated this with long waits when the hook remained up.

This pleasant pastime was continued for seven minutes when another member of the family was substituted and continued the attempt to get "Central" for five minutes. Then the receiver was hung on the hook, without the slightest success in getting "Central." Ten minutes later "Central" answered another member of the household who wanted to see whether the telephone had gone out of commission permanently, and in answering this call "Central" said no previous call had come in on that line.

Whatever the trouble may be with the telephone service in Kingston is not known by the layman, but the majority of telephone subscribers believe that among the highly paid efficiency experts of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company there ought to be somebody who can discover the trouble. The public service commission of the state has power to compel the company to remedy the trouble after it is discovered and reported, and it is said the public service commission also has authority to make its own investigation as to the cause of the trouble with its own efficiency experts. The majority of telephone subscribers do not place the entire blame on "Central," because they realize that the improved mechanical part of the telephone system is quite apt to become disarranged. It seems strange, however, to subscribers why the service should become so much worse at night than during the day, even after making full allowance for the fact that there is a reduced force of operators at night. It is noticeable that night service as well as day service has been growing steadily worse, and in several cases where subscribers have been unable to raise "Central" during the day and have motored to the telephone office, they have been told the line was "out of order," a statement quickly disproved by a request to be connected with the office from which attempts had been made to make the call, when the line proved to be in good condition.

Fortunately, Sunday night's call mentioned was simply of a business character and did not involve any emergency such as a call for firemen, police or a doctor. If there had been need for such a call, it would have been quicker to search for a taxicab and drive to the fire station, the city hall or the doctor's office.

The information regarding Sunday night's call does not come to The Freeman second-handed. A member of The Freeman staff held the watch and spent part of the time trying to get in communication with the telephone office.

Whatever may be the experience of other cities, the experience of subscribers of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company in Kingston is of a kind that destroys confidence in the ability of the entire management of the telephone system, from the highest paid officials down through the entire list. Reports of inability to get "Central" usually are explained by the statement that "something is out of order," but there is no attempt to fix it unless the trouble is reported by the subscriber to some other department. The trouble department usually has a ready-made explanation in which the last snow storm, plays a prominent part, except in summer, when the last thunder storm is substituted as the excuse.

Sometimes the trouble department apparently gets tired of the stereotyped storm explanation, and says that the plug in central office is out of order, but so far as service is concerned it appears to stay out of order without any attempt to fix it. Occasionally the subscriber is told that the trouble is with the subscriber's telephone, but the company does not send anybody to fix it unless the subscriber by a stroke of good luck happens to get in touch with the proper department and that particular department happens to be on its job that particular day.

If the American Telephone & Telegraph Company system has reached the breaking-down point, the public ought to know. If the company has been collecting money for repairs, or improvements, and has failed to make them the public ought to know, and in any event the matter can be determined. If the local trouble is mechanical, it can be remedied. If it is not mechanical, it can be remedied even more quickly.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Jenius

No, Elbert, plutocrats don't drink Pluto any more than Autocrats drive autos. Aristocrats wear wrist watches, or Demagogues wear goggles.

Which would you rather be, a rich man with a twin six, or a poor man with six twins?

The little things count most. In a world full of peace and prosperity a man could be unhappy with a tack in his shoe.

Keeping a good man down is as impossible as holding a bad one up.

Please—Just This Once!
The evening dew was falling fast. As through an Alpine village passed, A youth, who bore 'mid snow and ice A banner with this strange device, "Yes, we have no bananas."

The cheaper the restaurant the greater the variety of noises made by the soup consumers.

Don't blanket your automobile hood and let your horse stand out in the cold.

No matter what happens, sighed the apartment, life is always suite for me.

You are not ready to face the day's work until you have worked your face into a smile.

Changing Scenery.
Mrs. Motorist—Why don't you ask someone where we are?
Mr. Motorist—What difference would it make? Five minutes from now we won't be anywhere near here.

"To what do you attribute your long life, Uncle Mose?" asked a newspaper interviewer of a colored centenarian.
"Becuz Ah was be'n a long time back," the old gentleman replied.

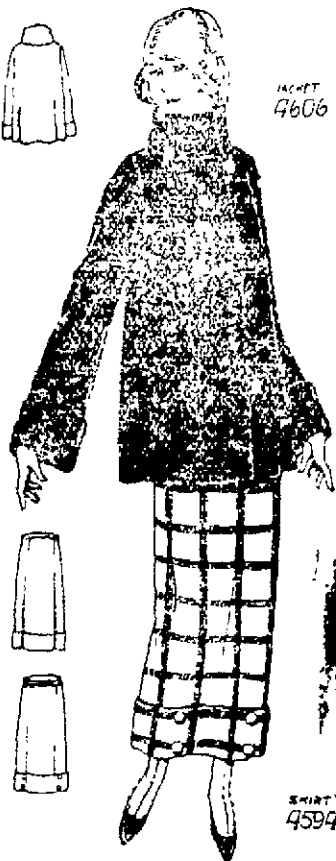

Woman can speak with her eyes—but she doesn't often give them a chance.

Barely Escaped.
"I shook and lost," said the dancer as she rushed from the dressing room.

"I'll stand for a whole lot of things, but not for this," said the Southerner, as he pulled the negro out of the seat and sat down.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Smart Costume.

4594-4594. This comprises a popular short jacket (or coat) and the new cuff skirt. One could use caracul, velvet or other pile fabrics for the jacket and wool plaid suiting, twill or heather mixtures for the skirt.

The jacket is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size requires 3½ yards of 40 inch material. The skirt which measures 1½ yard at the foot is cut in 7 sizes: 25, 27, 29, 31, 33, 35 and 37 inches waist measure. A 29 inch size requires 2½ yards of 54 inch material.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 12c FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps by the Freeman Pattern Department, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer catalogue, containing 550 designs of ladies' and misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches, all valuable hints to the home dress-maker.)

St. Peter's Even Up With Beacon

By Winning Monday Night's Game 41 to 36—Junior Saints Beat Kantrowitz Five 41 to 23.

The Mase Hook and Ladder Co. of Beacon made a desperate fight Monday evening to take another game from the St. Peter's Lyceum quater at the latter's court but failed. The St. Peter's outfit won 41 to 36. Koenig led in scoring with 14 points. The game was very close throughout, three points separating the score at half time, St. Peter's, 22; Beacon, 19. M. Husta was the referee.

In the preliminary game the St. Peter's Juniors added the Kantrowitz five to its list of victims, winning by a 41 to 23 tally. P. Bruck led with 15 points.
